ORDER 95 HAS BEGUN

Dark times have fallen on the Galactic Empire. With numerous resculpts of standard figures filling the shelves, countless repacks glutting the market, and neither a prequel nor even sequel in sight, fans and collectors have lost some of their frenzied appetite for 3.75" Star Wars figures. Superior paint applications, better likenesses, and increased articulation should speak in favor of newly released figures, but such advancements have come at a staggering price, and even the most staunch collectors pause and perhaps even pass over new items.

Exhausted from the Ultimate Galactic Hunt, completists have become an endangered species.

Understanding that the future of his vast Empire hangs in the balance, Emperor Palpatine makes a desperate bid to retain power: Order 95, the extermination of all POTF2 figures. The Emperor hopes that the vacuum left behind will encourage consumers to replace their lost collectibles, not knowing that a handful of photonovelists are recording the progress of this dreadful order...

Join the ranks of Scott Corrales, Dan Curto, Beedo Sookcool, ST-321, and Tresob Yr in chronicling ORDER 95.

Be part of Internet history! Join ORDER 95!

This is really what Order 95 is all about: creating online community of collectors and photocomic artists working together on a larger-than-life project. All you have to do is create a photocomic, post it online, and submit a link to tresob.yr@gmail.com.

We will be posting a link list of ORDER 95 fan comics as they become available.

RULES:

STORY ARCS

Order 95 is an open-ended narrative. We're encouraging fans to let their imaginations run wild. Whether you prefer "straight" photonovels or self-conscious meta-fictional parodies, we welcome your submissions!

For example, you could tell the story of Commander Cody hunting down POTF2 Obi-wan on Tatooine, or you could have 501st Clone Troopers taking out POTF2 Stormtroopers on your desk at work.

Do you already have a regularly updated photocomic, but you don't want to mess with your current story-arc? You can make an allusion to Order 95 in even a single panel, and become part of the Order 95 phenomenon. If you merely depict Saga Momaw Nadon decking out POTF2 Momaw Nadon in a barfight, you can earn a place in Order 95.

The key is that POTF2 figures are being somehow attacked by more recent figures.

CAN I USE FIGURES THAT SOMEONE ELSE ALREADY USED?

Yes. If five people all come up with a great comic about 500th Figure Vader fighting POTF2 Vader, why not link to them all? We'll consider it different versions of the same story.

WHAT COUNTS AS POTF2

Any Star Wars figure listed in Rebelcum's POTF2 Photo Archives (1995–2000) counts as a POTF2 figure: <http://www.rebelcum.com/POTF2.asp>

Vintage figures and POTJ figures do not count as POTF2, but they can certainly appear in your comic. Will the vintage figures side with POTF2 or their more modern counterparts? Only you can say!

LENGTH:

Order 95 will accept comics of any length. However, we will be classifying contributors according to the size of their contributions.

SPY: By advertising Order 95 on your Website, you will become an Order 95 Spy.

SCOUT: Posting a one or two panel cartoon or a one-panel allusion in a longer comic earns you the rank of scout.

TROOPER: A three to six panel comic or a three to six scene photonovel dedicated to the Order 95 story arc.

COMMANDO: A five-page comic or a 20-scene photonovel dedicated to the Order 95 story arc.

COMMANDER: A ten-page comic or a 40-scene photonovel dedicated to the Order 95 story arc.

DARTH: A 24- page comic or a 100-scene photonovel dedicated to the Order 95 story arc.

MAKING IT OFFICIALLY UN-OFFICIAL FAN ART

If your comic or photonovel is accepted, we will add you to our linklist and supply you with an Order 95 Logo to proudly display with your comic or on your Website.

APPROPRIATE MATERIAL:

Submissions that contain offensive or graphic materials will be marked as "explicit" or excluded from the Order 95 list at the discretion of the Order 95 review team. If you are concerned that your material may be inappropriate, please consult tresob.yr@gmail.com. Some rules of thumb regarding appropriateness: If downloading the image would get someone at work in trouble, please avoid it. If downloading it would get someone a visit from the FBI, we will not only refuse to link to you, we will report you and hope for reward money. Anything that would reasonably be considered hate speech is right out. Any “adult” content is liable to be deemed inappropriate (and, again, if you are going to write a mature theme that law enforcement would arrest you over, we’ll look forward to having you arrested, sicko).

Likewise, any language that would get a movie an “R” rating is liable to be deemed inappropriate. For a decent outline on the kind of stuff that we’d rather you avoid, please consult http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Seven\_dirty\_words, assuming, of course, the wiki hasn’t been edited. Feel free to use dashes or those funny punctuation marks.

Like the Motion Picture Association of America, however, we are softer on violence as such (just so long as it would not be considered “hate” material).

In other words, use common sense and don’t embarrass yourself.

LEGAL:

Star Wars and its properties belong to Lucasfilm and Hasbro. They are used without permission. Order 95 is in no way affiliated with Lucasfilm or Hasbro.
